Why YOU should attend

Foreign Animal Diseases for Practitioners...

Take this self quiz:

1) When is the last time you sat down to review the clinical signs of FADs?

2) Do you know which FADs are most likely to appear in the US and why?

3) Do you know how FAD's will most likely enter the US and which species may be affected first?

4) Do you know who to call first if you see a suspected FAD?

We have a new afterhours phone number that can be stored in your cell phone for emergencies.

302-233-1480

Animal Disease Hotline

Poultry and Animal Health

Delaware DEPARTMENT of AGRICULTURE

Serving Agriculture and Protecting Consumers

Mission of the Poultry and Animal Health Section at DDA

To protect the health of domestic animal and avian species from the introduction and spread of infectious and contagious diseases, including those transmissible to the human population.

Delaware Department of Agriculture
Poultry and Animal Health

2320 South DuPont Highway
Dover, DE 19901
P: (302) 698-4500
F: (302) 697-4451

Foreign Animal Diseases for Practitioners

A refresher course for practicing veterinarians

Presented by:

Poultry and Animal Health
Delaware DEPARTMENT of AGRICULTURE
Serving Agriculture and Protecting Consumers

Funded by:

Veterinary Services
Safeguarding Animal Health

Foreign Animal Diseases (FAD) for Practitioners

Species covered:

Poultry

Swine

Cattle

Horses

Sheep

Goats

Topics covered include:

- ☑ How FADs could enter the US
- ☑ Which agencies regulate and track FADs
- ☑ Animal disease emergencies
- ☑ How to prevent the introduction of disease pathogens
- ☑ How to react if you suspect an FAD
- ☑ Overview of FADs by species

Training Dates and Times:

February 7, 2012 8am-12 noon

February 15, 2012 8am-12 noon

This course (2012) has been approved by the Delaware Veterinary Board for 3.0 CEU hours towards Delaware licensure.

Location:

Delaware Department of Agriculture

Conference Rooms 1 & 2

2320 South DuPont Highway

Dover, DE 19901

RSVP to:

Winnie Slaubaugh

(302) 698-4561, or email at

Lawina.slaubaugh@state.de.us