

May 6, 2011

Solar Panel Ribbon Cutting T. S. Smith & Sons Farm

T. S. Smith & Sons along with project partners, Solair and PNC Bank, family members, and public officials celebrated by cutting the ribbon on their sizeable array of solar panels to commemorate the farm's on-going investment in sustainable agriculture. The solar array makes the farm one of the largest solar powered farms on Delmarva.

Ed Kee, Delaware Secretary of Agriculture (pictured right) said "This investment is a clear signal that this family intends to stay in farming and will do it with the most sustainable, environmentally friendly practices. I congratulate the Smith Family."

Left to right - front row: Pat Correll, Julie Wheatley, Dan Burton, Jeff Burton, Eric Van Orden, Rep. Dave Wilson, Charles, III, C. Walt Smith, Jr., Matthew Smith, Tom Smith, Secretary Ed Kee, Bob Stickles, Paula Gunson—back row: Lawrence Tassone, Steve McCarron, Kate Rohrer, Karen McGrath, Susan Smith Hayes, Mike Vincent, Vance Phillips, Sam Wilson.