Delaware Park
Stewards Ruling
(28- 2016)

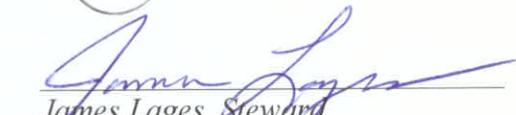

On June 8, 2016, following the successful outcome in race 4th, Delaware Park took evidentiary samples of the winning horse pursuant to Rule 5.35.2 of the Delaware Thoroughbred Racing Commission ("D.T.R.C.") Regulations. A report from Truesdail Laboratories, Inc., the official Chemists of the Delaware Thoroughbred Racing Commission, showed that the blood and urine sample 17644, taken from the horse "Thurman Merman", who finished first tested positive for "Glauicine". Glauicine was also located in bedding and sawdust samples associated with the stabling of this horse.

Glauicine is an alkaloid found in several different plant species such as Tulip Poplar trees. It is a bronchodilator with anti-inflammatory properties and is sold in an extracted pill form. When it is combined with other alkaloids such as Protopine, Asimilobine, or Liriodenine, it is more likely than not that an environmental contamination was the basis for its ingestion. Typically, the horse will ingest wood shavings with its feed or will inhale sawdust from its bedding and obtain trace quantities of glauicine (and associated alkaloids) in this manner.

The ARCI Uniform Classification Guidelines are silent about this substance but the ARCI is conducting research about it. There is no evidence that glauicine was administered to the horses in violation of D.T.R.C. Regulation 10.8.1.3. Because of the lack of evidence of intentional glauicine administration, the finding of the stewards is that the presence of other alkaloids in the samples extracted from these horses indicates that this was an environmental contamination. No action will be taken against the racing purse monies at this time.
